Is taking off the stadium project, which should rise on the Tiber.

di Simone Pieretti da Il Tempo del 01/11/2008

(extract) ... The City of Rome has approved the first water surveys to assess the feasibility of the system designed by Mercury. If the location of the new stadium would necessarily be moved for environmental reasons, the owner of Lazio has in store another solution. The Stadio delle Aquile then arise on the land of the family Mezzaroma, between the Via Flaminia and the Via Salaria, little more than Settebagni.
